

THE DEATH of Mrs. Perley Smith, whose home was on the Great Road, was a sad surprise to townspeople, many of whom did not know she was sick. Only the sincerest sympathy is expressed for the young husband, whose pleasant home is so suddenly broken up. About a year ago Mr. and Mrs. Smith suffered the loss of their only child, a beautiful boy of eighteen months, who died of convulsions under peculiarly sad circumstances. Mrs. Smith was taken sick about three weeks ago, the case finally developing into typhoid and the end came on Saturday about noon. Since their marriage, about three years ago, Mrs. McLean has shared the home of her daughter. It is needless to say she feels the bereavement keenly. The funeral was held on Tuesday at the late home of deceased. Many beautiful flowers were given by friends. Among them an offering from the Y.P.L.E.S. of the Baptist church, and another from the shopmates of Mr. and Mrs. Smith in the webbing factory. Rev. F. R. Enslin conducted the funeral services.
